

Lifestyle

'Not going out as much': 'Date-night economics' leading to small business insolvencies

A change in Aussie dating habits could be having a catastrophic impact on small businesses, an expert has said.

 2 min read September 26, 2024 - 10:13AM

A decline in Aussies going out on "date night" could be contributing to small business closures, an expert has said. As spiralling costs across the board continue to impact every facet of life.

As consumers reduce their discretionary spending, insolvency and business turnaround specialist Jirsch Su national managing partner, Bradd Morelli, said he'd noticed an uptick in businesses being plagued by "cash issues".

"I believe that we are only starting to see the tip of the iceberg in respect to insolvencies that are the result of declining sales and cashflow due to consumers reducing their spending," Mr Morelli told news.com.au.

"We are still in the very early days, and even if interest rates are cut at some time in the future, it will get better before it gets better."

Australians "tightening up" on things like going out for dinner or paying for streaming services is "concerning" for the nation's economy, Mr Morelli added.

"This naturally flows into businesses that would have otherwise seen those sales," he said.

"People on fixed salaries with mortgages and rents to pay will always prioritise these over discretionary spending. Managing higher interest rates and rents is at the cost of discretionary spending."

Data in 2022 revealed Australian singles were spending $43 billion a year on dating, a fourfold increase since 2017.

At the same time, sales volumes at cafes, restaurants and takeaway food services have fallen for five straight quarters.

According to the Australian Securities & Investments Commission (ASIC), cafes, restaurants and small businesses registered disproportionate growth in insolvency appointments in the 12 months to June 30 this year.

The number of food services collapses skyrocketed by 50 per cent to a record 1667, compared to a previous 1114 in the 2023 financial year.

Restaurant and Catering Australia CEO Suresh Manickman said it was one of the toughest periods the sector ever faced.

"Higher interest rates, cost of living pressures on the up, more expensive produce and the cost of energy a having an impact," Mr Manickman told The Australian.

"Compared to this time last year, people have less money in their pockets and a reduced ability to pay and and there lies the problem the sector is facing."

More Coverage

'Shocked': Senior staff exit restaurant group

Single picture proves Sydne

Originally published as 'Not going out as much': 'Date-night economics' leading to small business insolve

Advertisement

Membership	About Us	Contact Us	Our News Network	Our Partners	Our Apps
Subscription Packages	About us	Help & support	Herald Sun	Buy Search Sell Classifieds
Group/Corporate subscriptions	Meet the team	FAQs	Courier Mail	Find Your Local
The Daily Telegraph app	Job opportunities	Standards of practice	The Advertiser	Foxsports
Today's Paper	Code of conduct	Letter to the Editor	news.com.au	Foxtel
Newsletters	Subscriptions	Photo Print Sales	The Australian	Hipages
Rewards	FAQs	Licensing & Reprints	The Mercury	Kayo
	Subscription terms	Advertise with us	Geelong Advertiser	My Tributes
	Financial Hardship Policy		The Cairns Post	Punters
			Gold Coast Bulletin	odds.com.au
			Townsville Bulletin	racenet.com.au
			The Chronicle	realestate.com.au
			NT News	Sky News
			The Weekly Times	Coupons
			CODE Sports

A NOTE ABOUT RELEVANT ADVERTISING: We collect information about the content (including ads) you use across this site and use it to make both advertising and content more relevant to you on our network and other sites. Find out more about our policy and your choices, including how to opt-out. Sometimes our articles will try to help you find the right product at the right price. We may receive payment from third parties for publishing this content or when you make a purchase through the links on our sites.

Nationwide News Pty Ltd © 2024. All times AEST (GMT +10). Powered by WordPress.com VIP

Privacy policy Relevant ads opt-out Cookie policy Terms of use